Tree Ordinance Rescinded, Commission Disbanded

By Dan Oakes

The controversy that has surrounded the Tree Preservation Ordinance (1103), and the Tree Commission, came to a head Tuesday night, as the City Council (minus an absent Gary Adams) voted unanimously to repeal the ordinance, which in turn provided for the commission.

The public hearing was subdivided into two parts: The first item under discussion was the ordinance, and the second was the commissioners themselves. The item had been re-agendized following a meeting in which Councilman Bart Doyle had asked for Lorayne Russman's resignation from the Commission.

On the subject of the Ordinance itself, Marsha Blackwelder said, "As a professional in the field of horticulture, I tell you Sierra Madre has long needed a Tree Commission." She said that oak trees have to be treated with care and respect, just like fine antiques, and strongly recommended some sort of preservation ordinance specifically geared at the oak trees.

Joylouise Harte-Smith, one of those who worked on the Ordinance originally, said, "I would always like to see it stronger. For example, in Arcadia, it's a $10,00 fine to cut an oak tree."

Lorayne Russman said that she too worked on the Ordinance in the first place, and that the people who drafted it did attempt to put stronger language into it (in response to Council comments that one of the problems with the ordinance is that it was too weak), but that each time they did so, the draft ordinances submitted were returned with the stronger sections stricken out. Russman said that a stronger ordinance would have been tabled, but that stronger drafts have been written.

Doyle said that the Ordinance has been in place for 3 1/2 years, and "quite frankly, has not achieved its stated goals." Councilmember Maryann MacGillivray concurred with Doyle, and said, "The most appropriate way to effect the desired change is to repeal the Ordinance and write a new one." By unanimous vote, the Council repealed the existing ordinance, adopted an urgency ordinance placing a 90-day moratorium on removing trees with a diameter of more than four inches at a height of more than four feet, or pruning more than 20% of their annual growth, and appointing an ad-hoc committee, to be appointed by the Mayor, to draft a new ordinance.

Thus, when it came time to hear testimony concerning individual commissioners, as Mayor Hester put it, "There's nothing left to talk about. Now that we've abolished the commission, there's no need to discuss its members." Hester did mention hearing from a reporter that, related to the Tree Commission controversy, a complaint had been filed with the Fair Political Practices Commission, and an investigation was underway. An emotional Hester said, "Allegations brought forth without facts to back them up...they used to have a word for that. 'McCarthyism'. If you have something to say, come up here to the podium and say it, but don't sit there and spread rumors around town."

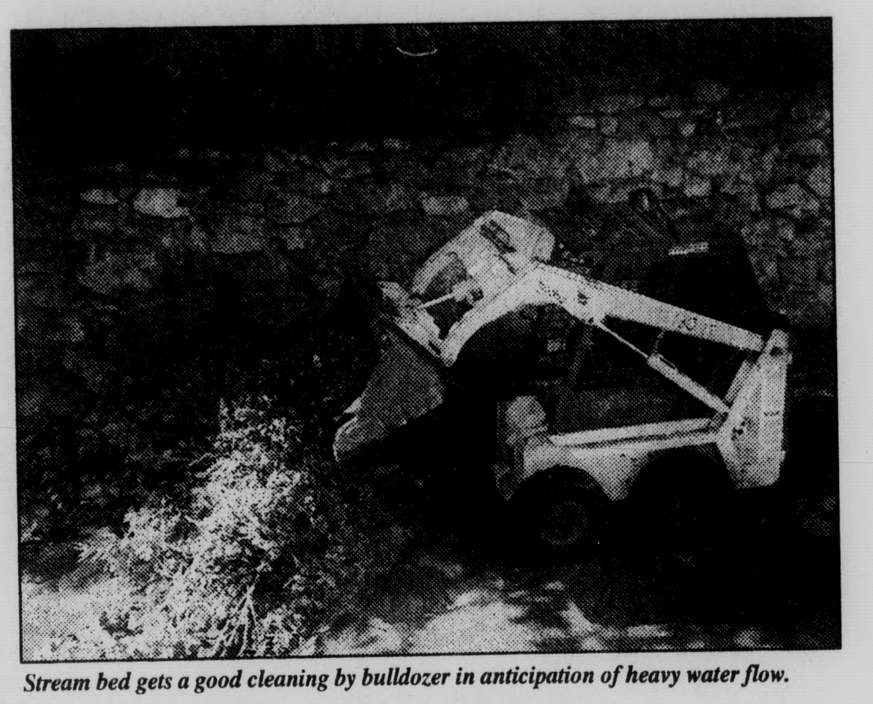

Russman, who had reserved comments for the second have of the discussion, approached the podium, but was told by a chorus of Council voices and that of City Attorney Charles Martin, "The public hearing is closed." Later, Russman said, "I was surprised and saddened by the way they chose to run the meeting...a way of allowing others to accuse without letting those being accused an opportunity to respond."

Former Tree Commissioner Mark Beirich said that the new ordinance has standards that locals won't follow, and added that the City was supposed to have seen draft copies of a stronger ordinance. He also said that the Commission had identified dozens of dangerous trees in town, which the Commission had been attempting to address, and working on the extensive inventory program. He called the dangerous trees "A potential liability that exceeds the cities annual budget." When asked if he would serve, if appointed to the Mayor's ad-hoc committee, Beirich said, "Maybe. It would depend. My question would be, 'Who's going to be on it'?"

Residents unhappy with the Council's decision included Marsha Blackwelder, visibly shaken, and Shirley Moore who said,

Council, Residents Call for Community to Come Together

By Dan Oakes

Concerns of residents and councilmembers alike came to something of a head Tuesday night, as various speakers called for an end to infighting and innuendo. Marsha Blackwalter, the first speaker to approach the podium during community communications, and she said, "I'm concerned about this City...This is Sierra Madre. We trust, love, and care about each other, but I'm extremely concerned about the tone this City seems to be taking. It seems greed is running rampant. Something has gone awry, and I don't know what it is, and I'm scared."

While Blackwalter's comments were primarily aimed at City Staff and Council, Sharon Doyle, wife of Councilmember Bart Doyle, approached the same concerns from a different perspective. Said Doyle, "There has been a growing concern about the political process... allegations of conspiracy and conflict without substantiation. You'd think we were living in the Watergate Hotel. It seems that suspicion of anyone who holds office is a righteous position. It boils down to one thing and one thing alone: gossip." Doyle had one piece of advice: "Could you please find something better to do with your time? Take a pottery course. Feed the homeless. Not all politicians lie, and when we treat them as if they do, we undermine their ability to govern us."

Councilmember Doug Hayes put it simply, saying he learned from former Mayor Clem Bartolai, who told him to look agitators straight in the eye and ask, "Is this City a better place because you live here?"

Betty Bickel broke up a little tension by apologizing for disrupting the evening's format by speaking about a positive issue. Following a change-of-pace laugh from the crowd, Bickel thanked John Davidson, Michelle Keith, Bruce Inman and Chris Cimino for the City's help in installing playground equipment at Sierra Madre School.

Following the Council's disbanding of the Tree Commission, a decision which left Blackwalter visibly distressed, Councilman Hayes said, "I'm real embarrassed for this town, with some of the things that have gone on. This thing has turned into a real bad paperback that I wouldn't buy... Marsha, you are right and it stinks. This isn't the town I moved to in 1973."

"...something has gone awry, and I don't know what it is- and I'm scared."
Marsha Blackwalter

Councilman Doyle said, "What's happening here is, we're going through a process of increasing polarization. People are drudging up old fights, and blaming situations on long-departed staff members. We should be able to disagree with each other without every single disagreement turning into a witch hunt."

Councilwoman MacGillivray, however, said, "I will walk out of here tonight proud of this City. I've had many people make many positive comments about this City and the way we conduct business." MacGillivray went on to say that much of Southern California looks

PIONEER DAYS

30 N. Baldwin Ave. Sierra Madre CA 91024

"Pioneer Days"

By Fran Syverson

Beginning Saturday, the official Sierra Madre "Pioneer Days 1997" final week is here. While the grand finale will be the crowded agenda of events on Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 8 and 9, several festivities are planned for the week leading up to the grand finale.

Bike Rodeo

A Bike Rodeo co-sponsored by the Sierra Madre Police Department and the Automobile Club of Southern California will be held this Sat., Nov. 1, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. The Rodeo will be held in the Recreation Center parking lot, 611 E. Sierra Madre Blvd. Attractions include police bike patrol demonstrations and bike displays, including some antiques. Safety checks on bikes can be made by the AAA. If licenses are needed, they may be obtained for a fee. All are invited.

Chili & Dancing

The annual Chili Cook-off at Bethany Church, 93 N. Baldwin Ave., will start at 5 p.m. Sun., Nov. 2. Square dancing will follow until 9 p.m. Chili entries are welcome; call Kathryn Hayter at 355-1403. There is no charge for these festivities.

Historic Places Series

The "Historical Places Lecture Series" sponsored by the Sierra Madre Chamber of Commerce will take place Wednesday and Thursday evenings, Nov. 5 and 6, from 7 to 8 p.m.

Joseph Feeney's slide show about the legacy of the early citrus industry is called "The Second Gold Rush." His talk will be presented Wednesday at E. Waldo Ward & Sons Marmalade factory, 273 E. Highland Ave. The presentation also includes the colorful history of crate labels that adorned every box that was shipped out. All are welcome.

Ann Luke will lead a mini-tour of the Episcopal Church of the Ascension, describing its many claims to historical and architectural fame. Her talk is entitled,"The Church That Blew Down." Ascension Church was designed by Ernest Coxhead, highly regarded in his field. Meet at the church at the northeast corner of Baldwin and Laurel avenues.

Dinner & Movie

Tickets are limited for the chicken pie dinner to be served by the Sierra Madre Women's Club at 6:30 p.m., Fri., Nov. 7, at Essick House. At 7:30 p.m., the vintage movie "Seven Brides for Seven Brothers" will be shown. Tickets at $8 cover both events.

Finale Weekend

After enjoying these lead-in events, be sure to circle your calendar, saving the weekend of Nov. 8-9 for a sampling of the many activities slated for both days. Watch for further details next week.

Inaugural Installation Rotary Dinner Nov. 16th

By Dan Oakes

The Sierra Madre Rotary Club will host a dinner November 16 to formally install its first officers and officially be presented with its charter. The dinner is being held at the villa at Alverno, at 5:00 p.m. with cocktail attire, hors d'ouevres, a full bar (courtesy of Bill Sullivan) and live entertainment.

President Gregg Freedman grew up in Monrovia, and has lived in Sierra Madre since 1989. His wife is currently the Lt. Governor of Rotary District 5300, and was the first female President of the Arcadia Rotary Club. She is also on the Board of Directors of the Music Theater of Southern California. Gregg was the President of Arcadia Rotary Club Partners, an organization for spouses of Arcadia Rotary members. Gregg was the first male President of the Partners group.

It was almost a year ago, in December, that Sierra Madre Rotary started to launch itself. The brainchild of Rob Stockley and Steve Garrett, the club started "getting serious" in February, and realized the need of selecting officers. That selection process brought Freedman to the President's chair. Freedman says that the group got rolling along nicely in March or April, and was officially chartered on June 27.

The new club has dived into community events. A new twist will be their hosting of the beer concession at the Pioneer Days festivities. The concession will be mobile! All fundraisers for a good cause, however. Says Freedman, "Our mission has been to help youth and foster opportunities for children in our community."

One such opportunity is the sponsoring of local high school juniors to a 3-day weekend as part of the RYLA (Rotary Youth

Bella Mafia, and other SM Attractions

By Dan Oakes

It's well-known that the filming industry provides a much-needed boost to the Sierra Madre economy. What's less well-known is that the benefits extend above and beyond the dollars laid out just for the permits.

Film Coordinator AWest explains, "We just shot Bella Mafia, a four-week shoot, and the Bella Mafia people bought pizza for 250 students (at Alverno, where Bella Mafia was shot), they filled the crew vehicles, trucks and trailers, at Union 76, spending $900 just on gas, they bought their hardware at Arnold's, the bought pastries and donuts for almost 100 cast and crew members in Sierra Madre, they rented water from the City, and utilized shoe repair shops and the pharmacy all in Sierra Madre."

All of these expendi-

The responding officer found that it was registered to the person living across the street from the reporting party.

Commission Disbanded

"It appears obvious that the Council's actions are much more favorable to developers than to the town. It's disgusting. We have the interests of this town at heart."

Steven Drayer, the newest Commission member, estimates that he had logged in 200 hours of service in the eight months during which he sat on the Commission. Said Drayer, "I don't have a lot of old fights or an agenda. I just thought I could contribute something, and have fun doing it. In response to general criticisms from various councilmembers about people taking complaints about City practices to either the press or attorneys, Drayer said, "I went through the proper channels they talked about. I had a problem with the City's failure to enforce aspects of the ordinance, but I did not go to the newspapers. I never intended it becoming the circus that it has." Drayer doesn't expect to be named to an ad-hoc committee, saying that he has been branded a troublemaker for pressing for stronger enforcement of the Ordinance. "I was accused of being too much of a preservationist while serving on the Tree Preservation Committee," said Drayer.

Also in attendance Tuesday night was Lew Watanabe, who observed the proceedings without approaching the podium. Lew stepped off of the Commission months ago, when the infighting and allegations reached a boiling point. Now, like Lew, the Tree Preservation Commissioners are all "former commissioners". Said Lew, "I feel good about what they did tonight. I don't think they had much choice." Watanabe said that if appointed to the ad-hoc committee, he would serve again. "I'm not going to let a few ugly people stop me from volunteering in this city. That's not my nature," said Watanabe.

Cranberry Stains Need Prompt Cleaning....

It's a laboratory fact!

Cranberry stains are among the most difficult to remove. They affect more fabrics more strongly than most food stains; they act more quickly; they set permanently faster; and they are more difficult to remove.

What to do?

The simple and obvious thing is the right one:

Bring them in for a cleaning as soon as you can. A cranberry stain like any other stain is most amenable to treatment when it's freshest. The older it is the harder it is to get out. Leave them absolutely alone. You might see it. And whether it was cranberry, pumpkin, cream, milk, sugar, gravy, or whatever food or beverage you had during that sumptuous and wonderful repast, better have it cleaned right away. You'll be wearing that suit or dress again soon anyway, and it might as well hang in the closet clean.

Incidently, now is a good time to think of cleaning up your holiday items for the coming end-of-the-year holidays:

Drapes, blankets, bedspreads, rugs, as well as coats, housecoats, robes, etc.,etc.

Cleaning clothes and household fabrics is like health, wealth, and happiness- an once of prevention is worth pounds of cures.

Be safe, be sure. Be "sharp" --look groomed.

NOT TO BE MISSED FUN RUN/WALK

By Phyllis Chapman

Have you signed up for fun? Pioneer days 5K fun run/walk on Sunday, November 9, will be an event not to be missed. Entry applications are conveniently printed in the Sierra Madre News or contact Sierra Madre Recreation Department, 355-5278.

This will be an enjoyable Pioneer Day activity as you sprint around Sierra Madre or walk the 5K. Historic sights will be identified along the way with information and historic photos. Maranatha High School, 160 N. Canon, is the start/finish point for the run/walk. We thank Maranatha as their parking lot provides a place to park cars. Also, Maranatha students will be assisting the committee that morning to check-in entrants or register those who have not pre-registered. Pre-registration is encouraged.

The race begins at 8:00 a.m. sharp. Check-in time is from 7:15 to 7:45 a.m. Cost for pre-registration is $15 which includes Pioneer Days souvenir t-shirt, and $20 on race day. Children under 12 are free. The committee requests that no bikes, roller blades or dogs be in the race.

Race sponsors are Sierra Madre News, Sierra Madre Civic Club, Mt. Wilson Trail Race Committee, Sierra Madre Recreation Department and Budinicich Clinic of Pasadena.

HOROSCOPES

October 30-November 5

Aries - March 21/April 20

Something you would never expect to happen takes you by surprise early in the week, setting the stage for the week's remaining activities. You'll realize that the only thing you can count on is change. Selfish actions will only backfire this weekend. Sensitivity is necessary at home.

Taurus - April 21/May 21

When faced with a difficult situation this week, you may have to refer to the phrase, "if you can't beat 'em, join 'em." Remember, giving in doesn't necessarily mean giving up. Even the mighty Taurus has to put pride to the side once in a while. Learn from your mistakes.

Gemini - May 22/June 21

Weekend plans may be cancelled at the last minute. Think creatively, and you may find a more enjoyable alternative plan. It's time to bury the hatchet with a Scorpio. Let your emotional side take over in a romantic relationship. Be spontaneous when it comes to love.

Cancer - June 22/July 22

Get out of workaholic mode and enjoy yourself for a change. Remember, you only go around once, so you might as well have some fun! Use your intuition when it comes to risky financial investments. The sensitive Cancer's sixth sense is not to be underestimated.

Leo - July 23/August 23

Business and pleasure do not mix this week. Try to separate the two as much as possible. And watch what you say. Nosy coworkers may not have your best interests in mind. Looking for new romance? This could be the week to find lasting love. Dress your best on Friday.

Virgo - Aug 24/Sept 22

A good time to make changes at home or work. A positive, can-do attitude is all you need to succeed. A Libra associate offers good advice to a troubling situation. A friend's good news will give you a reason to celebrate. A different friend, however, may need your shoulder to cry on.

Libra - Sept 23/Oct 23

Your sound judgment and logical approach may be the key to success this week. There could be a positive change in your financial situation, but you'll have to be patient. Remember, good things come to those who wait. An unusual amount of social invitations are on the way. Take advantage of free time.

Scorpio - Oct 24/Nov 22

Trying to manipulate others to get your way will only backfire. A better plan is to use honesty as your policy. A pessimistic attitude could get you into a great deal of trouble. Contemplate past mistakes and put things into perspective. Credit those who help you this week.

Sagittarius - Nov 23/Dec21

Your yen for excitement and novelty will be satisfied this week - maybe even to an extreme. Be sure you know what you're getting into or you could regret it. Think of the consequence before you take the action. Patch up differences in a troubled friendship before it's too late.

Capricorn - Dec 22/Jan20

Blaming others for your problems is no way to get ahead. Take responsibility for yourself and everything will fall into place. Blame others and you'll never grow. Step back to get a perspective on where you are and where you want to be. The future may be brighter than you think.

Aquarius - Jan 21/Feb 18

What seems like a good opportunity may end up to be a big disappointment. Best not to put all your eggs in one basket. A troubled romance will only get worse unless something changes. Talk things out before you get to the point of no return. Librans and Geminis play a role.

Pisces - Feb 19/March 20

An unexpected happening may turn your routine upside-down, but it will be a welcomed change. Perhaps you take life a little too seriously at times. Don't refuse the help of a willing associate on a pet project. A fresh approach will only be of benefit. Be open to new ideas.

Council Meeting

at Sierra Madre as a model.

In other Council news, residents were advised of El Niño preparations in Sierra Madre. The Public Works, Fire, and Police Departments have been working over the past several weeks to prepare the City for projected heavier than usual rainfall.

The Fire Department's preparations for El Nino mirror its approach to any other potential disaster. Preparations for El Nino are relatively easy for the Fire Department because, due to the nature of Fire Department duties, they maintain a high state of readiness at all times. The Department has met with like Departments from Arcadia, Monrovia, and Area D to share information and make arrangements to share resources. The Department will be taking part in EOC (Emergency Operations Center) training and simulations in early November.

The Police Department also maintains a high state of disaster readiness, and will be running the November EOC simulation exercise to train staff in EOC operations and evaluate/improve responses. The Police Department has also been in attendance in meetings with Arcadia and Monrovia to participate in the process of developing mutual aid agreements.

Public works has been working closely with the Police and Fire Departments in the distribution of preparedness information and attendance at Area D and Arcadia/Monrovia meetings, as well as being in contact with L.A. County Public Works, which is responsible for the maintenance of the major flood control facilities in Sierra Madre. Public Works has procured twice the normal number of sandbags, and is in the process of obtaining more.

The Planning Commission's Kris Miller Fisher, a canyon resident, had pressed for the City to issue a report on El Nino preparations. Miller Fisher stated that she was "delighted to see that City staff is well-prepared, now the community needs to be well-prepared." At her home, Miller Fisher has built a small stone wall, altered her roof, and plans to buy sandbags. Upcoming meetings with County workers and City staff will help to inform residents about the City's preparations and ways in which residents can protect themselves.

Wings

Pre-teen years in Sierra Madre slowed down a whole bunch during the summertime--especially for us kids. My family couldn't afford to take vacations and as I remember, not many of my pal's families could afford to take vacations with the war going on and all.

That didn't bother us kids though. We all seemed to be immune to all the problems going on in the world then. We found our fun where we could find it.

Early one summer day, yes, it was in early summer too, my pals Paul and Walter arrived at my house all excited and everything. They had just found out that the Bethany Church in downtown Sierra Madre was starting up a "Bible School," and besides that, they were going to have games for us kids to play and we could even win our "Wings" by going to Bible School.

Paul, and Walter, and Larry and Billy and Howard were going to go and they wanted me to go also. These were my very best friends, so I said, "Sure, I'll go." Mom said it was o.k. with her. That made everything perfect! Paul said my Mom had to call the Bethany Church to get me enrolled so Mom got right on the telephone an got me all set up to go to Bible School. Goody!

Boy, were we kids excited! Bible School was starting in a couple of days and we had to be there by eight in the morning, we would get let out at noon, so we all could go swimming at the Canyon Pool after we went to school. Boy, oh Boy! .that madeeverything Great.

I had kind of a hard time sleeping the night before the Bible School started. I was sure wound up. But I finally did go to sleep and woke up real early so I wouldn't be late on my first day. I got all cleaned up and dressed an went out to the kitchen. It was still plenty early, so I had some time. I guess Mom heard me when I got up because I could smell bacon frying and there stood Mom at the stove making my breakfast for me. Mom soon had my breakfast done, and set it at the table for me. I wasn't very hungry because I was all excited and all, but the stuff smelled real good so I ate it all.

Mom said it was awfully early and that I still had plenty of time to get to Bible School but I just had to get there early because I didn't want to miss anything that was going on. It was only a little after 7:00 and Mom let me go--but I was to walk slowly over to the Bethany Church. I walked as slow as I could but it was only 7:30 when I got there and no one else was to be seen. It seemed like I waited and waited and was almost ready to give up when Paul and Walter arrived. Soon after that all my other pals came with a whole bunch of other kids that I knew from school. Boy! This was going to be fun!

Soon after that, a big man with brown curly hair and blue eyes showed up with a great big smile on his face and he said, "Hi There. My name is Harvey Stransky, and I'm going to be your teacher." Well, we all all liked Harvey right off the bat and he let us kids in through a side door of the church.

Some of you might remember what the old Bethany Church looked like. It was truly beautiful! The church was a big half-round building made all of river rock stone, and when you went inside the floor was completely round and high up circling the dome were a big ring of lights that went around the whole circle. It was an architectural masterpiece. I don't think it was earthquake proof though, at least that's what I heard some years later when they had to take down the beautiful dome.

Well, Harvey got us all in the hallway there and we sat in a big circle around Harvey and he told us the neatest story I ever had heard. He told us that he was a missionary and had been to all kinds of foreign lands and places teaching the word of God. He said he was back home for a little while and then he was going back to do missionary work and travel wherever the church wanted him to go.

Then he told us what we were going to study and memorize so that we could get our "Wings." First we were to study and Old Testament and memorize the books of the bible. And Part Two of our study was studying the verses in the New Testament and memorizing those book names, too. That sounded like fun to me, because I wanted to find out about the Bible. We didn't have to memorize all of the things at once. Just in groups and Harvey said he would give us little test every once in a while to see how we were doing.

We also had lots of little fun times, too. I remember once, Harvey figured out a game for us and we all played it. We allhad to sit in a circle on the floor, with a big pile of soda crackers sitting on the floor in front of us. In order to win the grand prize, each of us had to eat all the soda crackers in front of us as fast as we could, and the first kid who could whistle won the prize. Guess who won--I DID! I forget what the prize was, because all I remember is that I was the winner. I was so proud of myself!

We had another contest later on in the class, I guess they save it for the very hottest day. It was bobbing for apples. Good game for a hot day. It was a good, fun thing to do. I remember bobbing my head up and down, and up and down in the big old washtub with the apples in it. I never got a one, but I sure tried hard enough and I got my head nice and cooled off--and wet, too.

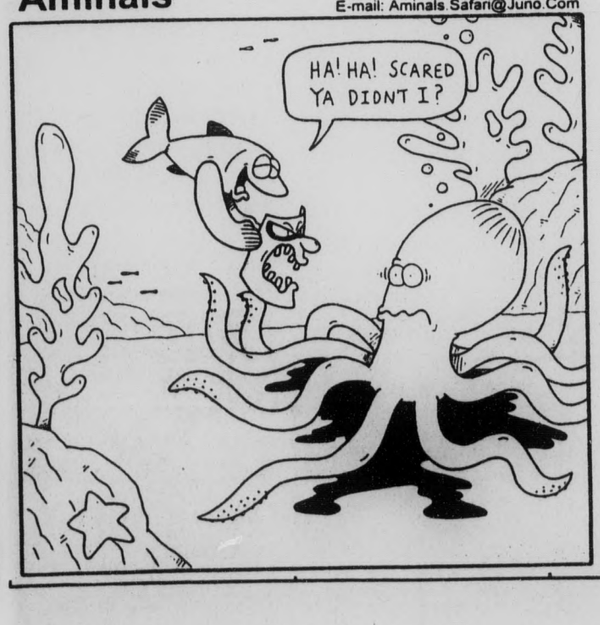

Well, the time at bible school went too quickly and one day Harvey said that he was very proud of us and we had all completed the summer bible school with flying colors. Harvey said he was ready to pass out our "wings" and had us all lined up in a straight line to receive our awards. Harvey went to each one of us kids and shook our hands and gave us each a little square white box. I was so excited! When Harvey gave me my box I quickly stuck it in my pocket so I could look at it later in private. After the little ceremony Harvey told the class that Summer Bible School was over and we could all go home when we wanted to.

I waited around a little bit and told my pals Paul andWalter and all my other friends that I would see them later on. When most everybody left I went over to Harvey and gave him a big hug around the neck. He was my hero. And Harvey gave me a big hug back. I would sure miss him!

When I got home I went straight to my bedroom and closed the door. I carefully took the little white box out of my pocket and opened it up ever so slowly. Once I got the top of the box off, a piece of cotton was ever so gently covering my "Wings." I know my hands were shaking and I had to set the box down on the night stand. I gingerly removed the cotton covering from my prize. My heart jumped when I saw my "Wings." They were beautiful! My "Wings" were a sterling sliver, lapel pin with a cross in the center with a circle around it, on either side of the cross were a pair of angels wings holding the cross in the center. My heart melted right then. I went to my closet and took out my Sunday Dress Coat and attached my wings to the lapel, just so. I was so happy! If I had those wings today, I would still wear them, but alas, over the years they just disappeared but I have not lost the memory of those beautiful "Wings."

Historic Clothing Display Chronicles Sierra Madre Development

By Phyllis Chapman

They arrived in Sierra Madre by way of the state of Maine. A special Pioneer Day display of vintage clothing can be seen at Sanwa Bank and you might say these clothes have come back home. Covering a period from 1850 to 1890, they belonged to one of Sierra Madre's earliest families, the Gregorys.

I was contacted by Carolyn Lee, a descendant of that family, now married to a retired ship's captain and residing in Maine. She has kept these clothes from the family but now feels they belong back here under the care of our Sierra Madre Historical Preservation Society. Yes, I was thrilled to accept them on behalf of the Society and to have them arrive in time to display for Pioneer Days.

In 1881 Adonijah Gregory drove his family to Sierra Madre from San Jose by team to become permanent residents here. He purchased 10 acres from Nathaniel Carter and they were one of the first buyers of Carter's Sierra Madre tract. Their parcel ran from Central Ave. (now Sierra Madre Blvd.) between what is today Sunnyside and Lima and north to Highland Ave. The family lived in a tent until Adonijah built their home, the first house in Sierra Madre.Then for $1.00 a day he built homes for other new arrivals here back in those early days.

He was instrumental in making Sierra Madre a separate voting precinct so local men did not have to travel to El Monte to vote. Also, at first all religious faiths met in our earliest schoolhouse, a one room building at Live Oak (now Orange Grove) and Hermosa, and he was the Superintendent of that first Sunday school for all faiths here. He died at age 71 in Aug., 1896.

Among the survivors of his eight children was son, Albert, who for 56 years was the manager of nearby Hastings Ranch for the owners father, and later the son, both named Charles Hastings. Albert lived in a house in northwest Sierra Madre once owned by a Mrs. Bailey for whom Bailey Canyon is named. He died at age 90 in 1940.

Another Gregory son was Pliny Gregory. He married Ethel Tracey Pixley in 1898. Ethel was an accomplished equestrienne, talented in the arts, music, embroidery, and needlework. Pliny had a citrus grove here and a small dairy. He died in 1950 and Ethel in 1965.

Their daughter, Elizabeth, married William James in 1923 and among their three children was Carolyn Lee who sent me this clothing. You have no idea the mint condition these clothes are in and well over 100 years later! All the white garments are very white, not yellowed from age, and not a tear on anything, and the handwork with, so much intricate embroidery, is absolutely awesome.

On display is a two piece taffeta and velvet lady's dress, also a black wool bodice and wool riding skirt. A photograph in the display shows Ethel astride a horse wearing that outfit. Other ladies garments are a white morning coat, a negligee and underpinnings.

Among the children's clothes is a beautiful baby's dress with a photo of Ethel as a baby in 1876 wearing the dress and it was worn by several generations of the family. Other garments are children's dresses, a robe, a black quilted cape with embroidered wool challis lining, etc.

My thanks to Judy Webb-Martin, Pioneer Days Chair and Pam Kelly who helped set up this display. Also, to Emelita Bituin, Sanwa's Assistant Vice President and Branch Manager, who provided this prominent place to display the clothing for public viewing. In addition, the bank has donated a check for $500 to the Pioneer Days Committee to help offset expenses for putting on this major Sierra Madre event. Once again Bituin and the bank have come through for Sierra Madre.

Jim Heasley's "The Way It Was" Is A History Lesson About Sierra Madre

By Jan Reed

Sitting with Jim Heasley, 81, of Sierra Madre is like speed reading the pages of a history book of Sierra Madre, called "The Way It Was." His ability to recall the early days of this foothill village is astounding. So much so, in fact, that following surgery to ream out one of the carotid arteries in his neck, his friend, Bill White, M.D., called to ask if he could identify "Gladys."

Jim's answer was, "The only Gladys I know was the lead burro." That answer assured Dr. White that the carotid surgery had been successful. Only Jim Heasley would remember the lead burro in the pack train which he led when he was a kid growing up in Sierra Madre.

He came with his family to Southern California from Pittsburgh, Penn., in 1920 because his mother had been told that this climate would help her fight tuberculosis. "The majority of the kids in Sierra Madre had some member of the family with respiratory problems," he explained.

He attended school when he had to but his heart was with the pack trains in which he started working for Vint Hogee when he was seven years old. He would walk up the mountain on foot and the packers would let him ride an empty pack saddle back. Those saddles were wooden, not the most comfortable ride in the world, but heaven for a kid like Jim Heasley. He said that Jackie was the best saddle burro. He should know. He certainly saddled Jackie enough times.

One packer, Bosie McKay, took me under his wing, let me catch the animals and curry them, then saddle them. Bill Corum had mules and built the place as a parking lot for hikers then bought out Hogee. All I had to do was slide down the hill, Heasley laughed and shook his head, remembering.

With his mother ill much of the time, Mrs. Corum became a second mother to the youth. He said he looked to her for advice. When the Corums took a trip back East, they hired Charles Chantry to run the pack train and Bill Micheals to run the parking lot. Soon Heasley was working for Chantry when he was "twelve or thirteen years old." He stayed in the bunkhouse and enjoyed Chantry's great breakfasts. They were busy camps. First Water was four miles up, Roberts' about three quarters of a mile further. Hogee's was five and a half, Fern Lodge six or six and half, and Sturtevant was eight and a half. There were also over 270 private cabins up there on government land. Special Red Cars would end at High-

Rescue Team To Hold Open House To Recruit New Members

By Tom Burhenn

The Sierra Madre Search and Rescue Team will be holding an open house to recruit new members on Wednesday, November 5th. The open house will take place at the Teams' rescue station at 1901 Stonehouse Road in Sierra Madre from 6:00 PM to 8:00 PM. Candidates should be at least 25 years old, be in good or excellent condition, live within a 20 minute drive of Sierra Madre and have a love of the outdoors. The Team is especially seeking candidates with backpacking, cross country skiing, snowshoeing, or mountaineering experience. The Team currently has twenty active members and is seeking to expand its membership.

Candidates who are selected for probational Team memebership will undergo a year of intense training starting in early 1998. Prospective members need not have a garage full of equipment or decades of outdoors experience; but they should have a positive attitude, an ability to learn, and a willingness to persevere. Team membership has many rewards including an outstanding training program and the oppertunity to visit wild and remote areas that few people ever see.

The Team completed a very successful fund drive earlier this year and now, thanks to generous support from the community, owns its own rescue station in Sierra Madre. Directions to the rescue station are as follows: exit the 210 freeway at Santa Anita Avenue. Go north on Santa Anita about one mile to the stop sign at Grandview. Turn left heading west on Grandview and travel one long block. The rescue station is on the northwest corner of Stonehouse and Grandview.

The Sierra Madre Search and Rescue Team is a non-profit volunteer organization dedicated to saving lives in the wilderness.

OPEN POETRY READING AT LIBRARY

By Catriona Shafer

"Listening to Voices" poetry reading series will have an open poetry reading on Friday, November 7, at 7:30 p.m. at the Library. Anyone interested in reading should sign up at 7:15 p.m. The Program is free and everyone is invited to listen and/or participate. Students are welcome!

This is the second program in the 1997-98 series, which continues on the first Friday of each month through May. The Friends of the Sierra Madre Library sponsors the series.

The Library is located at 440 W. Sierra Madre Blvd. For further information please call (626)355-7186 after 11:00 a.m.

Ex-Governor Of Texas, Ann Richards, To Speak November 6

By Kathy Winterhalder

Ann richards, the feisty ex-governor of Texas, who first won the attention and admiration of the nation when she delivered her unforgettable keynote address at he 1988 democratic convention, will kick-off the distinguished Speaker Series on Thursday, November 6 at 8:00 p.m.., Join her at the Pasadena Civic Auditorium, 300 East Green St., as she comments on today's political headlines, shares her vision for the country, and reflects on her own political career.

Not many other women in politics have attracted as much scrutiny, as much admiration, as much criticism, or as much curiosity as Ann Richards.

Governor Richards began her political career in 1976 when she ran for Travis County Commissioner's Court and won. Six years later she was elected Texas State Treasurer, becoming the first women elected to statewide office fifty years in 1990 Richards was elected Governor of Texas, her administration made major improvements in education, public safety, economic development and efficiency. She appointed more minorities and women to State post than the two previous governors combined.

Subscribers of the entire series will be offered the opportunity to attend a reception, where they can mingle and talk with the guest speaker first hand.

Now in its second season, the Distinguished Speaker Series of Southern California continues a tradition of excellence by offering audiences the opportunity to meet and learn from some of the giants of our time.

For more information, call (310) 546-4105.

land and Montecito Avenues and drop off people so they could hike up to the camps. They were mostly Sunday hikers but there was a bus that went to the foot of the trail. You could rent a tent house up there for $1.50 to $2, and there were cabins for rent, too. Every camp had a piano. Roberts' Camp had a dining room and dance halls. Horses or mules could carry 200 pounds; burros 120 pounds. Hikers hired packers to take up supplies for a cent and a half a pound, Heasley remembers.

When Corum bought out Hogee there were sixty-five horses, burros and mules. Soon, he weeded them out. In the winter he would rent a big pasture from Baldwin {Lucky Baldwin} and my favorite job was to go and get the livestock down there at Santa Anita, Foothill and Orange Grove, around there. I ran them up Canon Avenue then up Sturtevant. The summer I was eleven years old I was on the payroll, ate and stayed with the packers, went home for showers.

There were two summers when I worked for Kenyon Devoe. He had a horse named Ginger and I would exercise her for twenty, maybe twenty-one miles.

Heasley said that his work with the pack trains often took so much of his time that he would fall asleep in class during school. But I always thought that sometimes you can get by with horse sense better than with book learning.

When he was eighteen and out of school, he went back to work in the steel mills in Pennsylvania and stayed for two years. But he got homesick and things in California were starting to pick up. I came back here. I could do all kinds of odd jobs, and then one day when I drove into the Shell Station, Mr. Mathis asked if I would like to go to work for him. "Sure," I said. I was working there when I married Barbara. We've been married for sixty years.

In 1939 he took over the Union Oil Station down the street and sold out to Andy Liscomb in 1942. He drove big rigs for the town bakery for awhile then decided to join the Navy and was gone for over two years. Barbara tures come on top of a first-day filming fee of $450, and weeks of shooting at $225/day thereafter, as well as the fees for additional permits such as tent and fire permits. Additionally, the film group hired Sierra Madre Fire volunteers and Police Officers, of which the City gets a percentage. Part of AWest's duties as film coordinator involve talking to filmers regarding the use of City resources. Says AWest, "The fact of the matter is, especially when we're filming downtown, the merchants are more receptive when the companies patronize their businesses."

AWest is an experienced director, and it's no surprise to him that location managers value the look of Sierra Madre. Says AWest, "It's a very, very unique location. The scale of the City is such that it has a real Norman Rockwell quality. It does not look like Southern California typically. It's not overbuilt with contemporary architecture, and there aren't stoplights or parking meters.

AWest remains sensitive to the concerns and objections of merchants and residents who are opposed to filming, but says that overall, objections are "very, very few." The filming process in Sierra Madre is strict and regulated, and six of every seven requests don't meet the Sierra Madre requirements. "If we took every application we received, we'd be filming all the time," says AWest. Filming is currently mixed between commercials, TV shows, and movies; recently, automobile commercials have been the hot item. The most popular locations include Alverno Villa, the Kraft Estate, Kersting Court, and the Ward Ranch. Recent celebrities in town for Bella Mafia include Jennifer Tilly, Nastassia Kinski, and Vanessa Redgrave. Bella Mafia will air on television in November.

Calls from location managers come into AWest to see if he knows of a spot that will correspond to a certain look that they have in mind. This can lead to mutually beneficial arrangements such as have been reached using the Willis Estate as a location four times in the last few months. With no neighbors within 500 feet, filming at the Willis Estate ranks low on the disruptivity scale, yet the fees are the same as they would be for any other spot.

Sierra Madre has a well-deserved reputation for being strict in the industry, which AWest calls "beneficial," and adds, "There aren't very many fly-by-night organizations that attempt to breeze into town and take over. They know we don't go for that here."

Leadership Awareness) conference. Students will travel to the Desert Sun Science Center where they will meet with roughly 400 other students and participate in leadership training and public speaking seminars, and engage in peer pressure and social activities.

The club also sponsors applicants for the Dan Stover Music Award, and entrants to the 4-Way Test speech competition. A fun fundraiser on the horizon is April's Academy Award Party, with big screen television sets and formal attire. That fundraiser will raise money for mini-grants which are discretionary funds allocated to schools for individual projects.

Freedman sits on the Board of Directors of the Methodist Hospital Foundation and the Pacific Commerce Credit Union. He is a Certified General Appraiser, and an Associate Member of the Appraisal Institute.

Other officers scheduled for installation are Vice President Jon Crowley, Secretary Louise Calaway, Treasurer Tom Hale, Club Serviceperson Susan Nunnery, Community Serviceperson Kris Poulsen, and Community and International Serviceperson Rob Stockly. Says Freedman of the Sierra Madre Rotary Club, "We want to have a broad impact on professionalism and opportunities within the community."

For further information about the Installation Dinner, contact Steve Garrett at 355-0076. For further information, or to see what Rotary is all about, stop by The Only Place in Town restaurant Tuesdays at 7:00 a.m.

took care of their two children during that time.

The work of packing up the mules helped me in the Navy when I was loading and unloading ships. Guys would say to me, "Where did you learn that?" Because I could pack lots of stuff in the hold of the ship, Heasley said. I guess I've always been in transportation, he laughed.

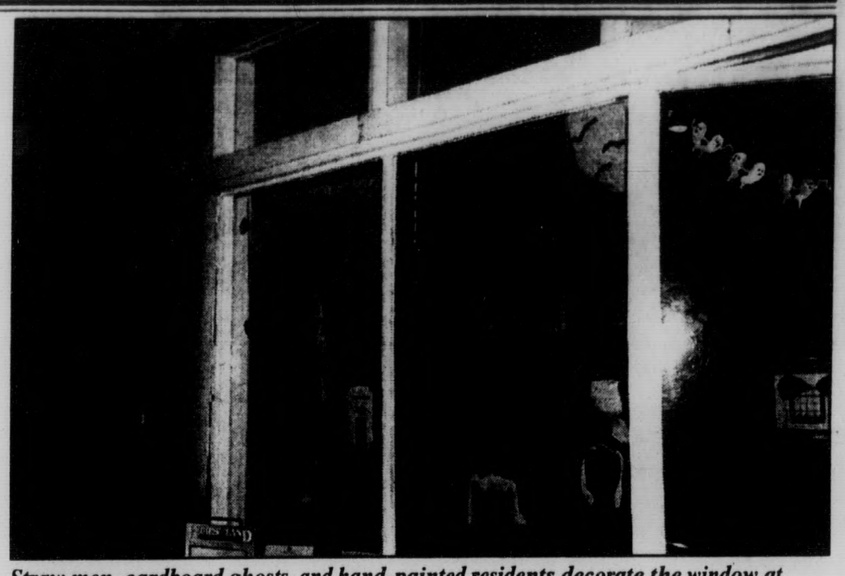

I was a kid in the best times for a kid like me who loved the outdoors. If you did the right thing, nobody bothered you.

That seems to be Jim Heasley's credo for his life. He and Barbara have seven grand-children and fifteen great-grandchildren.

If you enjoy a good chat, Jim Heasley is your man. He can really talk about the way it was in Sierra Madre in those golden years of his youth on the pack trains up the craggy San Gabriel Mountains.

Edda Hutson Attends Masters Retreat

By Wayne Thornton

Edda Hutson, veteran realtor with Century 21 Village Realty in Sierra Madre was recently invited to San Diego for a three day Master's Club retreat to develop real estate strategy for her business and the Century 21 System overall.

Edda was joined by several hundred top Century 21 sales associates from throughout the Century 21 System's West Division. The division covers 13 Western states and Guam.

Hutson was invited to the retreat as a result of her membership in the Master's Club, a unique recognition program for a top tier of agents who show consistent levels of productivity from year to year. Master's agents participate in similar business and personal advancement programs throughout the year.

Edda Hutson

Edda Hutson has had a fantastic year said Mike Lepore, manager of Village Realty. She is well on her way to reaching the Centurian level {sales in excess of five million dollars in one year} for the fourth time. The Centurian award represents the highest recognition given to a sales associate within the Century 21 System. She has served for four years on the Arcadia Board of Realtors as a member of the board of directors, and she has chaired numerous committees. She feels that involvement in the board and networking with her fellow agents are important in keeping informed to what is happening in both the local and national real estate industry. She can be reached at {626} 359-6200 and {626} 355-1451 24 hours, 7 days a week.

Instructor: Peter Gryffin, 10 year practitioner, and instructor with the Shao-lin Wu Tao Federation
The Ancient Art of the "Grand Ultimate Fist"
Learn the Chinese martial art of the Tai Chi Chuan {Grand Ultimate Fist}. Although Tai Chi is well known as an optimal form of exercise and relaxation, often described as moving meditation, it was originally developed as a martial art. As a martial art, the principles and development of this form of self defense proved to be so effective that it was named "Grand Ultimate Fist" {the meaning of Tai Chi Chuan}. Due to the incredible health benefits of this art, it later became known as an excellent health exercise as well. This class will offer development in both areas, for health and as a martial art. Participants are welcome to learn both aspects, or may emphasize just the health aspects, depending on their needs and interest. As a health exercise, Tai Chi is ideal for casual practice any time of the day, needing no special clothes or practice area. Health benefits include weight loss and control, stress reduction and relaxation, improved balance, improvement of posture and reduction of back pain, as well as an overall improvement in mental and physical health.
If you have any questions about the class please call {626} 796-3457.

Rent or Move

by Mary Cogswell Baum

The Pulitzer prize for playwrights is awarded to the play that is most informative about some aspect of American life. The Jonathan Larson musical, "Rent", received the Pulitzer last year and the Tony award as well, and is now playing at the Ahmanson Theater in the Music Center. While it is partly inspired by Puccini's "La Boheme", it is very much of the 90s. It is a rock musical, which means it is loud; it's plot is simple, following the eight or so principal characters through a year in their lives. Its characters are complex and unconventional, its message is an old one - Friendship is important; love is what matters.

Julia Santana and Christian Mena in a scene from Rent

Its people are the inhabitants of a low rent building in New York City. They resemble Puccini's characters in their poverty, their comradeship, their acceptance of life (There are witty little references to the opera here and there) but they also have to face the dominance of drugs and the dangerously indiscriminate threat of Aids.

The actors perform with passion and conviction, sacrificing their voices to the demands of the sometimes raucous music. (Substitutions in the lineup each night are common.)

There are moving scenes, fascinating relationships and a compassionate transvestite named Angel who is everybody's friend.

The songs are imaginative, but the volume, or possibly the sound system, or possibly the actors' diction, makes 50% of the lyrics impossible to understand.

"Rent" was hailed as a saving trend in musical theater. Maybe- but those over fifty may find it confusing, even upsetting.

A strong cup of earthy, flavorful tea but not to everyone's taste.

Its run at the Ahmanson has already been extended once.

PIONEER DAYS 5K FUN RUN/WALK

By Phyllis Chapman

What great luck! This past issue of the Sierra Madre News reached every mail box in town., Everyone now knows about Pioneer Days 5K Fun Run/Walk taking place Sunday, November 9, with starting gun time at 8:00 a.m. sharp. For your convenience the News publishes the entry form for this historic event right in the paper.

Whether you run or walk the route is a wonderful way to know some of Sierra Madre's treasures with 17 historic sights identified along the way. Each site will feature a poster with historic information and old photos. Runners, even as they sprint by, will learn the location and people who walk will have more time to absorb the information.

Maranatha High School, 160 N. Canon Ave., is the start/finish point for the run/walk. We thank Maranatha. Their parking lot provides a place for the cars and Maranatha students will be helping the committee that morning with check-in and registration. Pre-registration is encouraged with the cost of $15.00 which includes a Pioneer Day souvenir t-shirt, otherwise registration is $20.00 the day of the event. Children under 12 are free.

Running the run/walk is the Mt. Wilson Trail Race Committee and the Sierra Madre Civic Club with the Sierra Madre News sponsoring.

Barbecue For Pioneer Days

By Jan Reed

Kiwanians To Host Pioneer Days Barbecue In Kersting Court, Saturday, Nov. 8

Sierra Madre Kiwanis Club plans an old-fashioned chicken and ribs barbecue in Kersting Court on Saturday evening, November 8, as its Pioneer Day activity.

The first 200 people in line will be served from 5:30 to 8:00 p.m. Those who wish to reserve seats now should call {626} 355-3303 which is the number for Sierra Madre Secretarial Service. Reservations will be paid at the event.

According to Hank Landsberg, chairman, the menu consists of barbecued chicken and ribs, spicy beans and salad, and the cost per dinner is $8.

We have 200 dinners ordered so this will be a first come, first served meal. Get your reservations in early, Kiwanis President Pat Kocsis said this week. In tandem with the Kiwanis dinner Sierra Madre Rotary Club will have liquid refreshments available for sale and is sponsoring the band, Pecos, in Kersting Court. Join this Pioneer Days fun!

DREIER ANNOUNCES SERVICE ACADEMY APPLICATION DEADLINE

Young men and women interested in attending a United States Service Academy beginning in July 1998 have until November 3, 1997 to submit their applications for a nomination to Congressman David Dreier's Covina office.

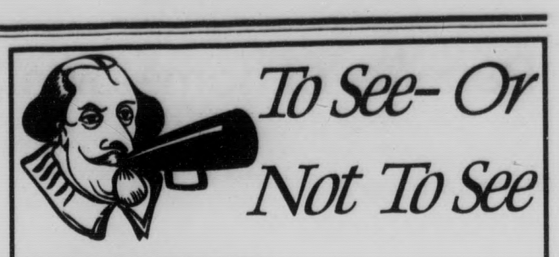

To be considered for admission to the U.S. Airforce, Military, Naval, or Merchant Marine Academy, a student must first obtain a nomination from their local Congressman.

To be nominated by Congressman Dreier, an applicant must be between the ages of 17 and 21, a United States Citizen, a resident of Congressman Dreier's district, and a high school graduate by July 1, 1998.

Congressman Dreier's district includes the following communities:

Arcadia, Bradbury, Claremont, Covina, Duarte, Glendora, La Verne, Monrovia, San Dimas, Sierra Madre, Temple City, Walnut, West Covina, and portions of East Pasadena, Pomona, Rowland Heights and the City of Industry.

For an application or more information, contact Congressman Dreier's office at 112 North Second Ave., Covina, CA 91723 or call (626)339-9078 or (909)592-2857.

To See- Or Not To See

By Karol Ballard

A Life Less Ordinary

Cameron Diaz, Ewan McGregor, Holly Hunter, Delroy Lindo, Ian Holm

Hoo boy. Are you as sick as I am of angels coming down to bring we mere mortals together for true love? Atypical boy meets girl, where boy kidnaps girl, boy loses girl, bahpahdah. While I must allow there are inspired bits of lunacy throughout the celluloid tedium, my watch kept demanding more attention than the Big Screen. And what's a nice Academy Award actor doing in a pic like this? Holly had fun being an angel with the personality of a gun moll, I'm sure, but there's something wrong with this picture. I think it's the confusion of originality with blatant self-indulgence, for lack of a better word than can be used in a G-rated news publication. Mainstream never seemed quite so appealing as when I finished viewing this weird thang.

Daryl Bryant's Art Featured At Watercolor Show

Former Sierra Madrean Daryl Bryant has been awarded the "Color Q" prize at the annual Watercolor West Show at the Riverside Art Museum with her entry, "The Milk Pitcher".

This is the third year that her work has been accepted into this prestigious show and she now has signature member status in this organization.

At the same time, Ms. Bryant's painting, "Reflections", has been accepted in the National Watercolor society Show at the City of Brea Cultural Center Gallery. Hers was one of about 100 artists throughout the U.S. Whose portfolio presentations gained acceptance for this show.

Mrs. Bryant grew up in Sierra Madre and has been an instructor at the Creative Arts Group in Sierra Madre. She recently returned from a trip to France, where she spent several weeks painting in the gardens of Impressionist Claude Monet.

The Watercolor West Show opened September 13 and continues through November 8 at the Riverside Art Museum, located near the historic Mission Inn. For information call (909) 684-7111. The National Watercolor Society Show opens November 1 and continues through December 20. For information call (7174) 990-7730.

Christmas Tree Lane Association Looking For "A Few Good Volunteers"

By Bev Widney

The Christmas Tree Lane Association, a non-profit organization, made up volunteers, is looking for help in several different ways, it was recently announced.

To continue the tradition that started in 1957, the organization is looking for volunteers and new members. Jan Jouanicot divides her time between a full-time career with Dilbeck Realtors Better Homes and Gardens, Arcadia office and her duties as president of the Christmas Tree Lane Association. "This is a very important year for our group" said Jouanicot. "We need more help than ever, due the threat of El Nino this year, we are going to start stringing the lights a week earlier and we need to complete the task in record breaking time". "We learned our lesson after the devastating windstorms experienced this past year," Jouanicot continued, "be prepared is our new motto".

Southern California Edison spent a great deal of time this past summer repairing the damage from the high winds. Edison responded without hesitation. Their crew repair broken feeder lines and installed new lines to trees that hadn't been lit in the past. "We really appreciated their support, in fact without it, we wouldn't have been ready to start this weekend," added Jouanicot.

Volunteers began putting up the lights this past weekend at the top of the lane {Santa Rosa and Altadena Drive} and will continue every Saturday and Sunday until the job is done. If you would like more information on "helping the tradition continue," by volunteering your time or you would like to become a member of the association please phone Jan Jouanicot, at {626} 797-9943 or contact her at Dilbeck Realtors Better Homes and Gardens, {626} 445-6701.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF: ALICE M. JONES
CASE NO. GP006213
To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of: ALICE M. JONES
A PETITION has been filed by SUSAN QUINN in the Superior Court of California, County of Los Angeles.
THE PETITION requests that SUSAN QUINN be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.
THE PETITION requests the decedent's WILL and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The WILL and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.
THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.
A HEARING on the petition will be held on November 21, 1997 at 10:00 A.M. in Dept. B located at 300 E. Walnut St. Pasadena CA 91101.
IF YOU OBJECT TO the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.
IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within four months from the date of first issuance of letters as provided in section 9100 of the California Probate Code. The time for filing claims will not expire before four months from the hearing date noticed above.
YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a formal Request for Special Notice of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in section 1250 of the California Probate Code. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

The 1st PIONEER DAYS HISTORIC 5K

Event Information

Time, Course, Awards, Location

START TIME

The race begins at 8:00 a.m. sharp. Check in time is from 7:15 - 7:45 a.m. Event concludes at 10:30 a.m. Participants not crossing the finish line by 10:30 a.m. will not receive an official time.

COURSE

The race begins at Maranatha High School, 160 N. Canon, proceeds west past the E. Waldo Ward Ranch, by the Ascension Church, Sierra Madre Elementary School, the Pinney House, and the Wisteria Vine (which holds the record for the largest blooming vine in the Guinness Book of World Records), through the historic Canyon and back to Maranatha High School. The route passes over 17 historic Sierra Madre properties, several of which are on the State of California's Historic landmark registry. Emergency support will be deployed at strategic points along the course to give any necessary aid. Local Boy and Cub Scout troops will provide water at two locations: Lima and W. Laurel and the half way mark at Carter and Lima. See map for details.

AWARDS

Awards will be presented to the first through third overall male and female adult finishers and the first through third male and female finishers under 15 years of age. Awards ceremony will begin approximately at 10:00 a.m.

PLACE

With its charming village atmosphere, the City of Sierra Madre sits at the base of Mt. Wilson in the northeast foothills of Los Angeles. The Historic 5K Race begins and ends on the east side of town at Maranatha High School, 160 North Canon. Additional parking available for participants at Sierra Vista Park, 611 East Sierra Madre Boulevard.

SCENIC HISTORY

One of the many landmarks to be seen along this historic 5K, is the Ocean View House, located at 93 West Mira Monte. Built in 1886 by N.C. Carter, between Baldwin and Auburn, was the first hotel in Sierra Madre, from which "one could see the ships come into San Pedro." Of special interest is its kitchen area which was formed from the first schoolhouse of the Sierra Madre area, moved by Mr. Carter to Ocean View from its original site when the second school was built in 1885.

Lizzie's Trail Inn, at the foot of the Mt. Wilson Trail, served the enthusiastic hikers starting up the trail and the bone-weary hikers on the way down, is a relaxing site along the historic 5K route. Although the history of the building dates back to 1890, the original restaurant was operated by Lizzie McElwain, who died in 1939. It's operation was taken over by Thelma and Robert Orme who continued the restaurant business until 1948. The operators lived in the Richardson House located behind the Inn. Patrons delightfully enjoyed the unchanging menu of delicious homemade foods for years. The Inn, currently non-operational, was dedicated a Historic Landmark in July 1976 as a joint effort of the City of Sierra Madre and Sierra Madre Historical Society during the Mt. Wilson Park Project.

City Opposes County's Retroactive Mandate

By Dan Oakes

Reporting back from the San Gabriel Valley Council of Governments, City Councilmember Barbara Kuhn noted an item that the SGVCOG found particularly objectionable. Los Angeles County Supervisors, who act as the Board of Directors for the Park and Open Space District, the Agency created to administer bond measures passed by California voters in 1992 and 1996, have recently passed a policy which would require each city receiving funds for site development and maintenance programs to expend 10% of those funds (including money that has already been spent) on the employment of "At-Risk Youth".

That 10% figures totals almost $100,000 of money already allocated to Arcadia, and Councilmembers aren't happy about being told how to spend that money five years after the fact. The SGVCOG has been unsuccessful in getting the Board to modify the policy. They are still requesting the changes that no provisions of the policy be retroactive, and that monies specifically identified in the measure and approved by the voters to be allocated to cities on a per capita basis and fund Capitol projects must be provided in full and exempt from this policy. The SGVCOG would also like to see existing youth employment programs count against the 10%, and the funds allocated to support future maintenance and operation be exempt and used for their intended purpose. SGVCOG President Algird G. Leiga says, "We are confident that upon receipt of a unified response from all of these cities, the Board of Supervisors will revise their current policy."

> "...we have to hire unqualified people."
> —Mayor Harbicht

Kuhn says of the policy, "It's really something else, to go back that far and make it retroactive." She was disturbed by the vagueness of the ordinance, as well. "We don't even know what 'At-Risk Youth' is," said Kuhn, "Do we have to hire new people?" Though anyone affiliated with local government is accustomed to receiving unfunded mandates from the State level, Kuhn says, "This is my first experience with the County. I didn't know they (Los Angeles County) sent us unfunded mandates, but that's what it is."

$96,520 is a lot of money, especially to a City that has considered itself in the midst of a budget crisis for some time. Says Kuhn, "That's a lot of money, especially to be retroactive to money already spent. The voters voted for that money for another purpose."

"That's one way of saying it," said Mayor Harbicht of the stipulation of hiring at-risk youth, "another way is we have to hire unqualified people." Harbicht added, "We don't care if a potential employee is at risk or not; if they can do the job, we hire them." Though Harbicht agrees that unfunded mandates more typically come from the State level, he agrees that the potential exists whenever one body has access to monies that another agency wants. Said Harbicht, "It's pretty easy to mandate something that someone else has to do. I wish they'd just run their level of government and let us run ours."

Granados Starts Second Term as Kiwanis President

By Dan Oakes

Richard Granados' second year as Arcadia Kiwanis' President began on October 1, in keeping with the club's October 1 - September 30 year for officers. Granados, who lives in Baldwin Park, is a health insurance sales executive with Care America Health Plans, whose territory extends from the San Fernando Valley through the San Gabriel Valley and into parts of the Inland Empire. Says Granados, "Arcadia is central to where I work, and I've made a lot of great contacts here."

One thing the Kiwanis shouldn't have to worry about over the year is their President missing a meeting. Granados, who has been a member of Kiwanis clubs in El Monte, Monrovia, and now Arcadia, has 15 years of perfect attendance with the Kiwanis. He served as President of the Monrovia Club, and as a Lt. Governor for Kiwanis International, managing the San Gabriel Valley, which at that time (1990-91) had 17 clubs and 715 members.

The Arcadia Kiwanis are an active group, says Granados, with 23 members, and are still growing. Projects they have been involved with include a recent back to school barbecue to feed some 600 administrators, staff members, and volunteers of the Arcadia Unified School District, to show their appreciation for Arcadia's schools, and the ongoing involvement with the Boy Scouts of Troop 105, who assist at Kiwanis functions. The club, in turn, is involved with the Scouts' functions, and has paid for and provided rings for three recent Eagle Scouts.

The Kiwanis have also donated prizes to the Parks and Recreation Department for the City's Halloween festivities, and, with the Coordinating Council, helped the American Red Cross send children to summer camp by raising some $1,500 annually. They also host "A Day at the Races" bringing 19 San Gabriel Valley Kiwanis clubs to Santa Anita Race Track to raise money for the Children's Hospital, provide Thanksgiving baskets for the needy, and work with the Police Department for Christmas' Toys for Tots program.

Kiwanis is a very simple concept, according to Granados, who says, "We're an international service organization addressing needs at the local, national, and international levels. We're businesspeople and residents who work together to serve our fellow citizen, and we get to expand our business and social horizons through networking in the business and residential community."

Richard Granados

The Arcadia Kiwanis meet every Wednesday at noon at La Pinata restaurant at 101 S. 1st Street in Arcadia. Meetings include club business, lunch, and a weekly speaker. Anyone considering joining is welcome to attend a meeting, meet Richard, and join the club as a guest. Says Granados, "We have good speakers and good friends. I find it very rewarding."

For further information, call Richard at 814-4438.

SPECIAL BULLETIN

Arcadia Police Department

By Ronnie Garner, Chief of Police

On Sunday, 10/26/97, at approximately 1201 hours, the Arcadia Fire Department responded to an apartment fire at 631 #E Baldwin Ave.

When the Arcadia Fire Department arrived on scene, they heard a 58 year old female/victim in the rear bedroom of the apartment. Fire personnel evacuated the victim through a bedroom window and shortly there after the victim went into cardiac arrest. Paramedics gave first aid, however, the victim expired at the scene.

Arcadia Fire Department controlled the fire and the cause is under investigation by the Arcadia Fire Department Arson Investigation Unit.

Cause of death will be determined by the Coroner's Office.

Name of the victim is being withheld pending notification of next of kin.

All inquires should be directed to the Arcadia Police Department Investigation Division, Lt. Sanderson re: 97-6381.

The Apache Stays

By Dan Oakes

It's been seven weeks since Sonny Skyhawk raised concerns of racism regarding the use of the Apache by Arcadia High School. Skyhawk calls the practice "demeaning and discriminatory," and in response, the Arcadia Unified School District asked Arcadia High School's Executive Council to submit a recommendation on the issue.

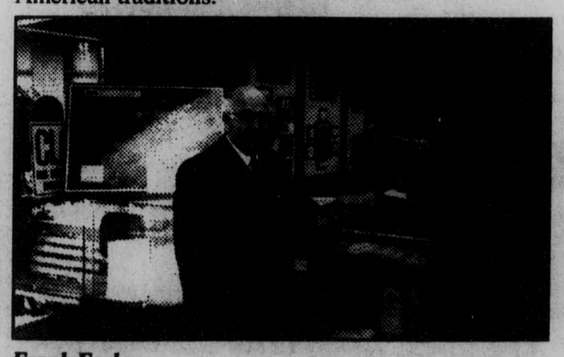

Oliver Chi, 1997-98 ASB President, wrote, "As we struggled...the realization we slowly came around to was that no matter what occurs, someone will be unhappy." What the Council came up with, after almost two months of study, was to retain the Apache as mascot, but to increase understanding and sensitivity of American Indian concerns by examining all uses of the "Apache" name and image for consistency of sensitive and accurate application, enlarge research on "Apache" traditions to be included in the parent-student handbook and with programs of orientation to the school, and work with faculty to prepare material suitable for inclusion in the academic curriculum. They will also consider entering into a "sister school" relationship with a corresponding high school possessing a majority Native American (preferably Apache) population.

According to Skyhawk, however, the issue is not how the Apache is treated; the issue is having the Apache as a mascot at all. Said Skyhawk, "I applaud the students' effort, but they don't get the point. If this were a black Sambo character or a Hassidic Jew or an Asian-American, there would be a huge outcry in the community."

At Tuesday night's meeting, district boardmembers listened to the AHS Executive Council's report. A resolution affirming support of the Apache mascot, per the recommendation, will be drafted for the next boardmeeting. Mary Dougherty of the District said, "I think the students did a terrific job contacting alumni and booster, researching the issue, and considering its sensitivity."

53 schools remaining in California have American Indian mascots of one sort or another, with the Los Angeles Unified School District recently abolishing the use of Indian mascots at three of their schools. Skyhawk will continue to fight for the other 53 to follow suit. "We have filed a federal complaint on civil rights, we will try to impede State funding to schools which use these mascots, and if we get no redress through local challenge, we will take this to the United States Supreme Court. We intend to prod the Attorney General. There is a law that no tax-funded institution is allowed to discriminate based on race." Skyhawk said that he "hoped that Arcadia High School would have understood the significance of this type of racism."

The Executive Council, however, doesn't see it as racism. They're proud to be Apaches. The written recommendation says, "The Executive Council places great value on AHS association with the name 'Apache' and wishes to honor the title and tradition with respectful sensitivity." The Council would like to see AHS become a model institution for positive association with Native-American traditions.

ARCADIA POLICE DEPT.

The following is a summary report of the major incidents handled by the Department during the period.

Thursday, October 23:

1. Around 10:14 a.m., an officer conducted a traffic stop near the 210 freeway and Michillinda. As the officer approached the vehicle, the driver drove away at a high rate of speed. The officer followed the 33 year old male/Caucasian suspect onto the freeway, and the suspect tried to evade the officer. The suspect then exited at the Madre Boulevard offramp. stopped the vehicle, and surrendered himself to the officer. During the investigation, it was determined that the ignition to the vehicle was punched and missing. The officer arrested the suspect for evading, outstanding warrants, driving on a suspended license, and suspicion of grand theft auto.

2. Store manager from Goldstein's, 412 North Santa Anita, reported at 2:27 p.m. that $3500 was taken from the store's drop safe sometime between 9:00 p.m. on October 21 and 8:00 a.m. on October 22. The report was only taken as documentation for insurance purposes. The store will handle the theft internally.

3. At 3:49 p.m., an officer was driving an unmarked vehicle near Camino Real and Santa Anita when he observed two mal/Hispanic and two female/Hispanic subjects acting suspiciously near a pickup truck containing gardening equipment. The officer parked and observed a 15 year old suspect remove a backpack-style blower from the truck and ran to a vehicle with the other suspects. The officer followed and a traffic stop was conducted, and all four suspects were taken into custody. The blower was recovered and returned to the owner.

Friday, October 24:

4. Shortly after 12:50 a.m., units were patrolling the parking lot at Motel 6, 225 Colorado Place, when officers observed a male juvenile in the area. A consensual contact was made, and the juvenile stated that he was staying in one of the rooms at the motel. Officers also discovered that the juvenile appeared to be under the influence of a controlled substance. Officers went to the room and knocked on the door, and the door opened because it had been left unsecured. In the room, officers found two male and two female suspects. Officers observed one suspect with a bindle in his hand, and another suspect leaning over a mirror with a straw type instrument. On the mirror there were five lines of a white powdery substance. Officers also located marijuana and other drug paraphernalia. All five suspects were taken into custody for being under the influence of a controlled substance and possession of controlled substance.

5. Officers were called to the 1000 block of Arcadia at 2:39 a.m. regarding a prowler. When officers arrived at the scene, they located a 19 year old male/Caucasian matching the suspect's description. The suspect was arrested for prowling and outstanding warrant.

6. At 7:16 p.m., officers responded to the 300 block of East Norman regarding a residential burglary. The victim advised that two female/Caucasian suspects knocked on his door and asked if he would buy some phone books. The victim refused and they left. Shortly after, they returned to ask if they can use his restroom. He let them in and then the suspects stayed a few minutes to talk. After the suspects left, the victim discovered various items missing. Total loss was $1050.

Saturday, October 25:

7. Around 10:29 p.m., units were dispatched to the 1000 block of Mayflower regarding a disturbance/loud party. At the location, officers found a large crowd of 40-50 people. Officers contacted the resident and he said that he would take care of the problem. At 11:51 p.m., officers were called back to the same location because of the loud noise. When officers entered the residence, several subjects became verbally aggressive and yelled at the officers. Some subjects even advanced toward the offices. Monrovia Police were called to assist, and three male suspects were taken into custody for obstructing/resisting officers.

Sunday, October 26:

8. Officers responded to the 600 block of Baldwin at 12:01 p.m. regarding an apartment fire. AFD were at the scene extinguishing the fire. A 58 year old female/Caucasian victim was removed from the location and first aid was rendered. Shortly thereafter, the victim went into cardiac arrest. Police personnel assisted with setting up a perimeter and traffic control. (See attached special bulletin.)

9. At 7:16 p.m., officers were called to the 800 block of Volante to investigate an armed robbery. The victim pulled into her garage and saw a male/Vietnamese suspect approach the driver's side window. The suspect smashed the window with the butt of his gun and took her purse. Officers conducted ar area search, but the suspect was not found.

Don't Let Your Halloween Turn Frightful With A Slip Of A Knife

Alcohol and Pumpkin Carving Don't Mix

Safe Carving Tips From Methodist Hospital

Halloween is a night to revel in imaginary horrors and nightmares. Most of the time that means nothing more than harmless fun, but with a careless slip of a knife, your Halloween can become a real life nightmare.

Pumpkin carving is a messy job. The seed and "insides" of a pumpkin can make things hard to handle. Add a sharp knife and alcohol to the scenario and it can quickly lead to cuts and punctures, sometimes with severe consequences, says Brent Miller, M.D., Medical Director of the Methodist Hand Center in Arcadia.

Dr. Miller recommends the following precautions to make carving a safer treat:

* Use a knife that's especially made for pumpkin carving. They are available at local stores.

* Keep your hands and carving utensils dry as much as possible while carving.

* Adults should carefully supervise children who want to carve. They could carve halfway and let the children finish. Children can draw designs with a marker or just scoop out the seeds, if parents want to be extra cautious.

* Don't drink alcohol and carve. Appoint a designated carver.

If you do cut yourself, get proper attention immediately. Sometimes finger cuts are quite deep. Deep cuts may involve the tendon, which if left untreated could result in permanent damage to the hand. In addition there is the risk of infection.

Methodist Hospital, founded in 1903, is a 347-bed, not-for-profit hospital. Services provided include comprehensive acute care such as medical, surgical, prenatal, pediatrics, intensive care (neonatal and adult), and complete cardiovascular services including open-heart surgery. Methodist Hospital is accredited by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Healthcare Organizations.

Rockin' and Boppin' at the Highland Oaks Hop

Fifties music was blaring, sounds of hand claps from people doing the Hand Jive echoed through the corridors of Highland Oaks School. It was the evening of October 17, and over 400 family members came out for the Highland Oaks Hop.

There were burgers from In-'N-Out, Bobby socks and saddle oxfords, poodle skirts, pony tails, and plenty of wholesome laughs. It was the semiannual Family Fun Night, and families did have fun indeed! PTA committee members Stephanie McNutt, Kim Natham, Heather Campbell, and Sheila Brown really did some research to recreate a 1950's sock hop atmosphere. And it produced an evening of jitterbug glory. How long has it been since you did the Hula Hoop?

Craft Faire To Benefit Music Theatre

By Heidi Hammer

Arcadia — The Music Theatre of Southern California Guild invites the public to attend their annual Boutique and Craft Faire Saturday, November 8th. It will be held at the Arcadia Senior Center, 365 Campus Drive, Arcadia, 9:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m.

Local Resident Tom Romano Moved Into His New Home In South Arcadia In May, 1950

In July 1950, to announce the birth of his first child; a boy, Tom Jr., Tom constructed a stork and perched it on his roof.

That following October for Halloween. Tom constructed the first of what was to be many colorful displays on his front lawn. Halloween, followed by Christmas, and then Easter. That's the way it has been for over 47 years.

Still living in the same house. Tom enjoys the memories of smiling faces - young and old, as they drive by his house to see what he has created.

Tom's original stork did not retire after 1950. It was brought out for the birth of daughter Josette in 1953. All of Tom's 5 grandchildren have also had their births marked by the stork proudly displaying a pink or blue diaper in its beek.

Some of Tom's more memorable decorations include a witch riding on a rocket ship. The background was changed twice a day - at daybreak and sunset. Tom also installed a vacuum cleaner motor inside the rocket for the propulsion sound. A mock gravesite marking the burial ground of Frankie & Johnny is also a memorable display.

Christmas displays include a large sleigh with Santa riding inside pulled by wooden reindeer. The sleigh had wrapped presents in the back. A large "Frosty" the snowman, Mr. & Mrs. Santa Claus. Rudolph with a red nose, Strawberry Shortcake, and the Smurfs have all been on display.

Easter has been marked by a giant Easter bunny, colorful eggs and ducks. One year Tom, while displaying the giant bunny, made several hundred small bunnies. Each day Tom would put out a few more small bunnies on neighbors lawns. When Easter came, Lynrose Street had been overrun by all of Tom's little bunny rabbits.

Now in his 48th year of making seasonal displays, Tom still enjoys seeing people drive up in front of his house and looking at his decorations. Perhaps one day during the holiday season, you should drive by Tom's house and see what he has created. He lives at 11158 E. Lynrose; just south of Live Oak between Santa Anita and Second Avenue. If you see Tom, give "2 toots" on the horn; it will make him happy. Display at Arcadia Library.

According to Mr.. Forbes, "Without water there would be no life, no business, no agriculture, no cities. Water is precious. The history of water is full of stories of competition rivalry and even outright fighting". An example is Machu Picchu in Peru. The site was deserted one year after it was inhabited because of lack of water.

Refreshments will be served at the adjoining Museum, and exhibits will explain more of this vital resource. The public is invited at no charge,.

Good Shepherd to Honor Dead on "All Saints' Day"

by Fran Syverson

The roll of names will be read Sunday, Nov. 2, at the Church of the Good Shepherd (United Methodist) of all of the church family who died during the past year. This is the congregation's traditional way of marking All Saints' Day.

The Rev. Philip B. Wood, senior pastor, will preach his sermon entitled "Don't Look Back" at the 8 and 10 a.m. worship services. He is basing his sermon on Ruth 1:1-18. The sacrament of baptism will be during the 10 o'clock service.

"Cuba: Whose Enigma?" is the topic at the Good Shepherd Forum at 9 a.m. in Jordan Hall. In a return visit to the Forum, Dr. Brice Harris, professor of history at Occidental College, will lead the discussion.

Groups for All Ages

Rev. Wood will continue his Bible study class at 9 a.m.

Children in grades K-5 can attend the "Breakfast Club" at 9 a.m., and "The Children's Moments" in the 10 o'clock worship. Church classes are at 10 o'clock for all students. Child care will be available at 8, 9 and 10 a.m.

The Rev. Matthew C.F. Chong will preside at the Chinese worship in the chapel at 11:15 a.m.

Junior and senior high United Methodist Youth Fellowship will meet from 6:30-8 p.m. at the church.

Choir Concert

"A Spiritual Requiem" is the title of the first concert of the season offered by the Chancel Choir under the direction of Timothy Farrell. All are invited to hear the repertoire of spirituals which will correspond directly to the Requiem Mass, or "mass for the dead." The concert will be at 6 p.m., Sun., Nov. 2, in the Good Shepherd sanctuary.

Church of the Good Shepherd is at 400 W. Duarte Road, Arcadia. Phone 447-2181 weekdays, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., for more information.

BETHANY CHURCH OF SIERRA MADRE

By Al Elby

Barney was emphasizing that, "A Little Bit Goes a Long Way". It all depends on the source of this energy. If the source is man it is ephemeral and will not last. However, if the source be God then the sky's the limit. This analogy is similar to the energy encased in the atom which exponentially multiplied all previously known sources of energy. God exponentially multiplies the energy we derive from Him.

We all have physical, emotional, economic and spiritual needs that must be gratified. However, the key is in how we go about gratifying those needs. We can look at the world and all it has to offer and seek our answer there. Or we can look to God and His ways for our answers and in so doing unleash the atomic energy that lies dormant within us all. Where we land in life is where we stand in life. If we stand in anger, we'll land in turmoil. If we stand gossiping, we'll land in verbal assassinations. If we stand in evil thoughts, we'll land in a cesspool. For we are what we eat and we will produce and reproduce what we are fed culturally. This is an inexorable truth which cannot be violated. If this was the be-all and end-all, with no other options, then man would stand with no hope and no future.

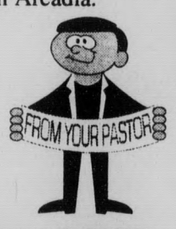

However, God stands by our side with His arms outstretched and waiting. It is His wish that we run into those ever-loving arms of guidance and direction and completely abide in Him. In James 1:5, we are told that in order to find the right answers all we have to do is ask Him and He will always comply. Excellent and fulfilling minutes spent with Him develop into days, months, years and eventuates into an eternity of residing with God. Where else but from God could we get a deal like that one.

Time Changes

By Debbie Kolodji

Starting November 1, 1997, Holy Angels Catholic Church will change the time of its Saturday evening Mass from 6:00 pm to 5:00 pm. The Sunday evening Mass will continue at its current time of 6:00 pm, and the Sunday morning Masses will remain at 7:30 am, 9:00 am, 10:30 am, and 12 noon. The time change was decided upon after a poll of parishioners. Holy Angels Church is located at the corners of Huntington Drive, Campus Drive, and Holly Avenue in Arcadia.

Holy Angels Church Fiesta '97

Holy Angels Church recently once more "discovered the fun" at its annual October Fiesta. The yearly event is the church's major fund-raiser for it's educational programs, especially Holy Angels School, Holy Angels CCD , Youth Ministry, Confirmation, and R.C.I.A. program. This year's fiesta was organized by Barbara and Doug Ferris of Monrovia and was dedicated to the memory of Steve Willett, a long time Holy Angels parishioner who died unexpectedly last summer. The theme "Discover the fun" was selected in memory of Willett's fun-loving nature.

In addition to Barbara and Doug Ferris, the fiesta committee consisted of Rosine Bruno, Treasurer; Rick and Carol Adams, Administration; Randy Wright, Operations; Debbie Kolodji, Publicity; Marie Muto, Food; Victor Bruno, Games; Mary Bruno, Prize Booth; Tony and Ginny Delgatto, Pat Wickhem, Jack McGuire, and Greg Victor, Sponsers; Clare Josephson, Raffle; Gene Gioia, Security; Mark Seiler, Bob Martinetto, and Don Baumann, Counting Room; Benny and Tracy Joseph and Al and MaryAnn Krtochvil, BBQ Dinner; and Rich McNulty, Tim McCarthy, and Rick Beaston, MVP's.

The Fiesta Raffle Grand Prize winners were Dean Strickler, Lucy Renno, Paula Joseph, and Susan Hartnepp.

Angel Breakfast at Arcadia Presbyterian Church

By Vikki Randall

An Angel Breakfast for preschool and elementary aged children and their parents will be held at Arcadia Presbyterian Church, Saturday, November 29th from 9:00 to 10:30 a.m. A $6.00 ticket admits two- one adult and one child. Tickets must be purchased in advance through the church office. The event is open to the community.

Arcadia Presbyterian Church's Angel Breakfast is an annual activity to kickoff the Advent season preceding the Christmas holiday. It is a "dress-up" event, which includes breakfast, Christmas carols, the Christmas story, and an advent craft. For this year's craft, children will be painting wooden angel candleholders to take home. Children attending the event are encouraged to bring a small baby gift for the Christ child, which will be donated to Elizabeth House, a Pasadena shelter for pregnant mothers.

Arcadia Presbyterian Church is located on the corner of First and Alice streets in Arcadia. More information can be obtained by contacting the church office at 626/445-7470.

WOMAN'S CLUB HOSTS 23RD PRAYER BREAKFAST

By Phyllis Chapman

Sierra Madre Woman's Club will host their 23rd annual All-Faith Community Prayer Breakfast, Wednesday, November 19, in the clubhouse, historic "Essick House", 550 W. Sierra Madre Blvd. As always the community is invited and there is no charge to attend. However, due to limited seating, reservations are a must.

The breakfast begins promptly at 8:00 a.m., lasts just one hour and is over at 9:00 a.m. for the convenience of people who work. Club members prepare and serve a sit down breakfast.

Invitations have been sent to members of the local clergy and each one who attends is asked to speak briefly with the theme of praise and thanksgiving as we approach the holiday season.

To make reservations, please call Martha Van De Verg, who chairs the prayer breakfast at 355-9862 or Mary Kay Gifford, 351-8265. The breakfast is one of the club's community service events.

La Salle Football Team Back On Track

By Debbie Sheridan

The La Salle Lancers football team traveled to Burroughs High School Saturday night for an important Santa Fe League game against Bellarmine-Jefferson. La Salle, who lost to powerful Cathedral the week before, were facing an improved Guards team, which had won its last two league games on the foot of senior kicker Sean Doyle, who had nailed 30 and 48 yard game-winning field goals.

Doyle kicked off to Lancer John Wickhem to start the game. Tailback David Taylor fumbled on third and five, and the Guards recovered. Bell-Jeff managed to convert a couple of first downs to get to the 30 yard line, but the tenacious Lancer defense, led by John Maust and Andres Jimenez, held. Doyle split the uprights for the field goal, and the Lancers, who had scored first in all six previous games, were down 3-0. On the ensuing kickoff, the dangerous Wickhem ran the ball back from his own 10 to the Guards 40. Taylor ran the ball to the one yard line and into the end zone on the next play. The Lancers have their own dependable kicker in sophomore Adam Espinoza, who kicked the PAT. The Guards possession resulted in three and out with a quarterback sack by Maust, returning the ball to the Lancers with good field position. Two first downs later, Taylor ran the ball from the six yard line into the end zone.

La Salle's J.R. Davidson gained fifteen yards in the second quarter on a reverse from Taylor. Taylor was intercepted by Bell-Jeff's David Barsumyan, but Davidson recovered a Bell-Jeff fumble on the next play, resulting in no loss of ground for the Lancers. Taylor rushed for another touchdown, but Espinoza's kick went wide, and the half ended with La Salle ahead 20-3.

Neither team was able to mount a successful offense in the third quarter, but in the fourth, Bell-Jeff quarterback Tim Cormier launched a beautiful 40 yard pass to Barsumyan, who managed to come down with the ball amid a crowd of Lancers. John Wickhem recorded his fifth sack of the night, causing Cormier to linemen Joey Meyers and Mark Perez created a big enough hole in the Guards' defense for Taylor to score from the 33 yard line. Taylor ran the ball in for the two point conversion. On the Guards possession, Dustin Hopper again sacked Cormier, who was undoubtedly tired of seeing white uniforms rushing at him. Taylor scored his last touchdown of the night from the one yard line, as La Salle won 35-3.

The victory gives La Salle a record of 6-1 overall and 3-1 in the Santa Fe League, tied with MaryStar of the Sea for second place. Their next game will be this Saturday at 7:30 at Monrovia High School against Bosco Tech.

Arcadia Blasts Hoover to Even League Record

The Arcadia Apaches moved to 1-1 in Pacific League play, and 5-2 overall with a 35-3 demolition of the Hoover Tornadoes.

Blair Lewis rushed only six times for 49 yards for the Apaches, but the renowned Apache running game opened up avenues for Richard Searing at quarterback, and he responded with the best game of his career, completing passes at a Steve Young-like 12 of 15 clip for 338 yards and four touchdowns.

The Apaches piled it on early, going up 21-0 after the first quarter. After that, the Apache offense added on two more touchdowns, while the defense thwarted Hoover continually. Hoover was held to under 200 yards of total offense.

Lewis did run for a touchdown, and also received a touchdown pass from Searing, a 39-yard strike to put the Apaches in front midway through the first quarter. Searing also hit Dexter Davis and Andrew Policky for touchdown passes, as well as Jon Herbsteith. With Crescenta Valley's impressive victory over Pasadena, it appears that the Pacific League playoff picture will include Muir, Crescenta Valley, and whichever team wins the Arcadia-Pasadena showdown.

Bulldogs Fall to Crescenta Valley, 41-18

The Crescenta Valley Falcons continue to roll along. Their 41-18 Pacific League victory marked the seventh win this year for the Falcons, against no defeats.

The Falcons scored two first-quarter touchdowns, ran the lead up to 34-0 in the third quarter, and were never really threatened by Pasadena, though the Bulldogs scored three fourth-quarter touchdowns to make it close

The Bulldog defense, having performed at a high level all year, was unable to shut down the Crescenta Valley running game. The Bulldogs rushed for 127 yards, and Corandole Daniels completed half of his 10 passes for 76 yards.

Offensive highlights for the Bulldogs included a David Cannon 80-yard kickoff return, and a 42-yard run by Daniels. Tyrone Burwell ran in the first touchdown from a yard out. The Bulldogs dropped to 3-4 on the year, with a 1-1 league record.

Maranatha Shuts Out Marshall

The Maranatha Minutemen started out their league season in impressive fashion, with a 33-0 shutout over Marshall. Having brought up a couple of players from the JV squad, Maranatha is 'up' to 19 players, but as head coach Bill Gableman says, "We're still outmanned."

Gableman was happy with his team's performance, though. It would be hard not bo be. "We're just taking one game at a time. So far, we've been improving each week. We have a tough game this week against L.A. Baptist."

The Minuteman defense held Marshall to 120 yards of offense and forced three interceptions, one of which was returned 12 yards for a Terry Russo touchdown.

Other scores were by Jonathon Baird and Joseph Brown (2) on the ground, and Edwin Quiles on a 17 yard pass from Todd Harris. Brown led the way with 128 yards rushing, and his 38-yard touchdown wrapped up the scoring. The Minutemen, whose preseason goal was a winning season, run their record up to 4-3. Marshall threatened to score when moving the ball inside the Maranatha 10 in the third quarter, but the Minuteman defense forced a fumble to quash the threat.

Da Bomb Squad held off the Scrappers to continue their undefeated season. A goal by Chelsea Johnson and one by Rachel Hudson gave them a 2-1 victory. The Scrappers' Lindsay Milich scored to stop the shutout.

The Piranhas and the Orange Crush battled to a 1-1 tie. Lexy Parnass put the Crush on top in the first half, but Rebecca Sommers scored in the 3rd quarter to earn the tie.

Kate Jarvis and Marina Pineda scored to lead Chaos to a 2-0 shutout over Eclipse.

Breakaway and Outbreak fought to a 2-2 tie in which Gennaka Fox and Katie Caldwell scored for Breakaway, and Lindsay Dix and Sara Maize scored for Outbreak.

Erica Joe staked Lightning to a 2-0 halftime lead, and they held on for a 2-1 victory over Quicksilver. Stephanie Bell's 4th quarter goal for Quicksilver averted the shutout.

The Green Lights were on GO this week, with a 3-2 victory over the Lightning. Valerie Calderon scored both Lightning goals, while for the Green Lights, Amanda Fowler scored twice and Eugenia Sangiovanni once.

The Roadrunners and Sparks dueled to the third tie of the week, 1-1. Both scores came in the last few minutes. Audrey Vass, assisted by LeeAnn Kammourieh, scored first for the Sparks, but in the last few seconds, the Roadrunners' Jennai Taylor tied the game.

The Revenge started off Saturday morning by sinking the Dazzling Dolphins, 7-1. Double goals were provided by Melanie Hansen and Kaitlin Novell, while singles were recorded by Brooke Berger, Laurel Kuhn and Gabriel Sanchez of the Revenge. The lone 'Phins goal was managed by Sarah Underwood in the 1st quarter.

After a scoreless first half, the Tsunamis came away with a victory over the Brave Hearts, 3-0. Becky Tirre scored twice, while Linzee Luper added another goal. Tirre and Luper each recorded an assist, also.

The Blue Storm blew by the Blue Thunder, 6-0, with Kelsey Rechetnik starting things off from an assist by Mary Jo Pavlik. Kelsey Jacobsen added a single goal, then assisted Amanda Chacon to build a 3-0 halftime lead. First year player Christine Tcharkhoutian was assisted by Chacon for her 6th goal of the season, and Chacon and Jacobsen each scored again to wrap up the scoring. The entire defensive line of Willow Green, Annie Legault, Caroline Wilmoth, Danielle Watchman, and Tristan Coad kept the pressure off of goalkeeper Anne Denstaedt.

The Orange Crush fought Spice to a 1-1 tie. Lexi Eaton got the goal for the 'Crush, while Sharon Jager got the tally for the Spice.

The Hericanes got two goals in the first half and that held up to beat Team USA, 2-0. Jennifer Monohan and Amanda Near of the 'Canes provided the scoring punch. Thabata Martinez was noted to have made a strong offensive effort for the losing team.

The predicted El Nino storms got the Golden Galaxy's head coach called to work. In his absence, and one player short, his assistant coach filled in and came up with a big victory over No Doubt, 2-1. No Doubt's Eileen Munoz started the scoring in the first quarter on an assist from Danielle Johnson, but the Galaxy's Gianna Gioia answered with two 3rd quarter goals.

The Amazons had the antidote to the Purple Poison, 2-1. All scoring came in the first half, with Stephanie Proana and Kristen Hayford scoring for the Amazons, while Lauren McAulay scored for the Poison.

The Diamond Backs and the Daredevils exchanged second quarter goals and ended in a 1-1 tie. Kasey Johnson scored for the 'Backs, and Danielle Bitonti for the 'Devils, while both sides played some great team defense.

Serious Attitude took the Sting out of the Stingers, 4-1. Mandy Puffinberger got a double while Chantal Acres and Jenae Brown each tallied single goals for the winners, while Kellianne Abshier scored the Stingers' lone goal.

Mutiny defeated the Wildcats, 3-2, in a thriller on Saturday morning. Scoring for the Mutiny were Jordan Vanderporten, Scott McAuley, and Nick Tangora. For the Wildcats, Jason Allen scored.

The Strikers defeated the Conquerors, 3-1. Shane Nicol scored twice for the Strikers, and Mitch Andrejich added another. Jason MacMillan scored the only goal for the Conquerors.

Men in Blue shutout the Red Dogs, 4-0. Caleb Rouse scored a hat trick for MIB, and Chris Torres added a single goal. Mitch May, Torres, and Rouse also claimed assists.

The Havoc defeated the Dragonslayers by a 5-2 score. Jeff Copher scored two goals, and Jon Solis, Brendan McQuaid, and Jon Marina each added single scores for the Havoc. The Dragonslayers' goals were scored by Tony Davila and Trent Richert.

In a wild contest, the first place Vipers defeated the Zombies, 5-4. The Vipers were holding on to a comfortable 5-1 lead going into the last period, when the Zombie offense went into high gear with Richie Galvan scoring twice and Martin Galvan once. It wasn't enough, however; Lino Almeda scored four goals to lead the Viper attack.

The Galaxy defeated Speed, who got a goal from Jason O'Dell, 3-1.

The Sting defeated the Fireballs and the Gold Miners by the same 5-2 margin.

The first-place Vipers played the Men in Green to a 2-2 tie Saturday. In the first period, MIG's Sam Bernstein scored on a long shot after the Viper goalie was brought out of the net. In the second period, left halfback Kenny Parry put the MIG up 2-0 with another long blast. The Vipers' John Ashkar lofted a shot into the nets quickly afterwards, when the MIG goalie was forced to come out on the breakaway. The score remained 2-1, MIG, when with two minutes remaining, the Vipers' Ronnie Guriguis blasted a shot which was punched out by the goalie and put in by Ashkar for the tying goal.

The Breakaway built up a 5-0 lead over the Sunami and then held on, as the Sunami rallied only to lose, 5-4. Blake Lloyd had several Sunami goals, and Will Marshall had one. Breakaway saw scoring from Vince Creso, who tallied a hat trick, and Peter Singer.

It was the Panthers defeating the Scrappers, 2-1.

The Undertakers beat Rage, 2-1, behind Jose Portillo's two goals. Goalie Brandon Cyr played well for the Undertakers.

The Bad Boyz defeated the Revolution, 5-4.

The Rhinos beat the Hornets, 2-0.
